

Orkney Marinas Limited

Terms & Conditions for Visiting Users

General

Orkney Marinas Limited operates all the marina berthing facilities in Orkney. Our three marinas are all situated within harbours under the jurisdiction of the Orkney Islands Harbour Authority and are subject to the overall regulatory control of the Harbourmaster.

Marina berthing fees are inclusive of harbour dues, which therefore allows a visiting boat to tie up at any Orkney Islands Council harbour authority pier or mooring throughout Orkney, subject always to availability and under the direction of the local piermaster. This means that a visitor may typically buy one 'ticket' which will facilitate cruising throughout the whole archipelago, allowing berthing at any of the three marinas plus tying up at any OIC pier or mooring without further payment. This is the best way to cruise Orkney – using a 'rover' ticket to take advantage of the many superb anchorages and small harbours, in addition to the marinas.

Marina berths may be booked through our website email link or by telephone or on arrival. We strongly recommend that you reserve your berth in advance; we will always endeavour to be helpful with early or late arrival due to weather or adverse conditions en-route to us.

They will direct you to a reserved berth if you are pre-booked or otherwise to an arrivals berth and our staff will come to you.

We can accommodate vessels up to 20 metres overall length but have limited berthing for boats of this size – please call to check availability before trying to berth. Depths vary - call ahead if in doubt, Orkney Marinas Limited does not accept responsibility for your seamanship.

To check availability and to reserve your next marina berth as you cruise round Orkney simply telephone admin on 01856 871313 (9am to 5pm Monday to Friday) or log on to www.orkneymarinas.co.uk to email. Marina staff are contactable directly by mobile.

- 10 It is the responsibility of berth users to ensure adequate mooring of their vessels at all times. Marina repair costs resulting from failure to moor adequately will be charged to the berth user. This responsibility extends to rigging upwind lines to prevent damage to berthing fingers by excessive side wind-age during extreme conditions.
- 11 The access gangways, pontoons and mooring fingers are to be kept clear of obstructions. Mooring lines must be laid in a seamanlike manner and must not create trip hazards. During summer months mooring lines must not be laid across the pontoons. Orkney Marinas Limited staff are empowered to remove any such obstructions, and recover costs.

For commercial fishing, any treatment or landings of catch must be made away from the marina, and decks must be cleaned down prior to returning to the marina. Due regard to the environment will be expected from all users at all times. While berthed in the marina on-board toilets may only be used if fitted with holding tanks. Shore amenities must be used where possible.

- 13 Maintenance of vessels while berthed in the marina is restricted to minor work. No processes are permitted which produce noise, dust, smoke, sparks or any waste effluent into the environment or which cause adverse effect to the environment or other marina or harbour users.
- 14 Pollution incidents may be attended to by Orkney Islands Council's Harbours Department but the cost of clean up will be borne by the polluter.
